OUR COUNSELLING AGREEMENT

My name is Lorraine Cox, I believe counselling provides an opportunity to talk through anything that is troubling us, whether this is from a current situation, something from the past or our fears for the future.

What you can expect from me: Wherever we meet, I will aim to provide a welcoming, comfortable, environment in which you can feel safe to talk in. I will not judge you or offer you advice. I will encourage and support you to explore your own thoughts and feelings in a constructive way, as this will enable you to find your own answers. You can also expect me to be at our appointment, as agreed.

What I will expect from you: I expect you to turn up, on time for the sessions. To switch off your mobile phone during our session or, if on call, to put the mobile on vibrate. To allow yourself some time to think about the session after it, in-between sessions and prior to our next session, so you have some ideas on what you would like to revisit or explore this week. To do any homework set for you. To tell me when we are working really well or not so, so we can notice and explore this, before any issues arise.

Counselling sessions last between 50 - 55 minutes, brief reviews may take place every 8-10 sessions.

All counselling sessions are confidential with some exceptions, such as:

- If you reveal you intend to harm yourself or another person
- If you reveal that a child is being or is in danger of abuse
- If you are physically or verbally abusive or threatening to myself
- If I am compelled to reveal information by a court order

Confidentiality Policy: The exceptions, in the list above, are not complete or exhaustive. If I have concerns, I will stop the session and we will discuss these and, hopefully, achieve consent for the course of action to be taken which may include speaking to your GP. Please provide details for your GP below

Your GP's name & contact info is: _____

Brief notes may be made after our session, so I can discuss any concerns, issues etc during my monthly supervision, your anonymity is protected at all times and any notes are destroyed immediately after use.

Reports: Sometimes I am asked to confirm the themes arising during counselling but, unless previously agreed with you, I only respond to court order requests. A full session's fee is charged for such reports.

Payment: I have a payment at time to booking policy, to confirm all sessions. If not paid within 24 hrs of agreeing the session, the appointment may be offered elsewhere, on a first come, first served basis.

Cancellation Policy: If you cannot make your appointment, please make contact as soon as possible as cancellations require a minimum of 48 hours notice or full session fees will be charged.

During the first session we will discuss everything in this agreement but, this is a lot of information so, this written agreement confirms the basis for all our counselling sessions.
